FAIR VOTED THE BEST IN YEARS

Attendance of More Than Twenty Thousand in Four Days Pleases the Directors.

ENTRIES ARE ALL HIGH CLASS

Most of Concessions, Horses and Other Stock Are Shipped to Connersville and Shelbyville.

The county fair has come and gone and most people are willing to vote it the best fair in many years in Rush county. The weather was ideal, the fair concessions were above the standard and everything moved off with the precision of clock work.

The attendance was about the average, when the weather has been good, with the exception of Thursday, when, it is believed by fair officials, that the largest crowd in the last ten of fifteen years was on the grounds. It is estimated that more than twenty thousand people went to the fair during the four days.

Although it will not be known for some time, it is believed that the fair association may break even this year, or perhaps make a little money. In past years the association has lost money. But this year, the races were all well filled, the attendance was large, there were a great many concessions, and everything combined to make it a great success.

The fair was not marred by any gambling or drinking or trouble with the rough element that generally follows the fairs. No arrests were made on the fair grounds and no reports of law violations were made to the officials in charge. Other fairs have been infested with pickpockets, but none of them made any attempt to work here.

The free attraction was tame but it pleased a great number of people. As one of the fair officials said yesterday: "You have to find a man who is willing to risk his life in giving a fair free attraction any more in order to please some people."

The entries in all of the stock departments were unusually good as was proved to the crowd by the parade which was made on the track yesterday afternoon. The premiums in the horse classes especially had been hard fought for because there was a large number of fine animals in the ring.

Practically everything was off the

TWO MEN FINED BY MAYOR

Lige Allison and William Brennem up
For Intoxication.

Lige Allison of Glenwood and William Brennem of Arlington took in the fair yesterday and also a lot of bad booze which resulted in their being arraigned before Mayor Black this morning. Both men pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication and were fined one dollar and costs. Their fines were stayed. The men were arrested by Chief McAllister.

KID M'COY IS GIVEN LIBERTY

Well Known Pug. Who Formerly Lived in Rush County, is Freed of Charge in London.

GOVERNMENT ACTS IN CASE

Norman Selby, the former American pugilist known to the ring as "Kid McCoy" who was arrested July 26 in connection with the robbery of a large amount of jewelry from the Princess of Thurn and Taxis at Ostend, Belgium was discharged in Bow street police court because of insufficiency of evidence, says a London dispatch. At the time McCoy was at Liberty on $15,000 bail, which had been furnished by Lewis Levi, extradition papers for McCoy arrived from Belgium a fortnight ago, but a preliminary extradition hearing was granted on petition of counsel. In the meantime the United States government began to investigate the case through the State department.

This was McCoy's fourth appearance in Bow street court. The American's lawyer held that the only evidence against McCoy was an unsworn statement made by Daisy Bloom, a friend of a man named Kemp, who was also arrested in connection with the theft. The attorney declared that Kemp was drunk when he made certain statements concerning McCoy, which were afterwards retracted.

In discharging McCoy, Magistrate Bennett said his action would not prevent future charges against McCoy if incriminating evidence was found. McCoy protested against this exclaiming:

"I am innocent. I never did a dishonest thing in my life."

REVIVAL STARTS IN A FEW WEEKS

Ministers Will Name Many Committees Needed to Prepare For Campaign.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR EACH SENT

Marvelous Revival Held in Monmouth, Ill., by Great Evangelist Recounted in Newspaper Story.

Not more than three or four weeks will elapse before the county wide evangelistic campaign will be started here by Dr. Biederwolf, and he has written here to urge the ministers to appoint the necessary committees and to begin to prepare for the revival at once.

Dr. Biederwolf has made evangelistic campaigns a profession, and has studied the question until he has a wealth of details which make a consummate whole and work for a successful meeting. He has instructions for every conceivable kind of a committee which will be appointed, and he has sent here a complete list of instructions for each committee. The committees will be named in a few days.

Dr. Biederwolf recently held a marvelous revival in Monmouth, Ill., a general resume of which is reproduced from the Monmouth Daily Review:

The churches of the city gathered up in part the results of the recent evangelistic movement under Dr. Biederwolf at the services yesterday morning. In all but two of the eight churches united in the campaign communion services were held and members were received.

The result as indicated by the accessions yesterday were most encouraging, and each pastor is assured others will come under the influence of the meetings. Almost the entire number of those who decided for the christian life was received yesterday, and there were many who had not gone forward at the meetings.

For the next two or three weeks many will make a public profession of their faith, in fact it is almost impossible to gather up the definite results in any satisfactory manner.

The services in the churches yesterday were very beautiful and impressive. The combination of the Easter and communion services presented scenes that will not soon be forgotten by the large congregations that assembled.

The day was ideal and every external condition was most favorable to the special exercises. The churches have never perhaps been so largely attended at the regular services, and in addition to the large increase in membership there is a manifest awakening among those who at present are identified with the churches and their work.

The following individual summary tells the story in part of the Biederwolf meetings and their influence on the moral and spiritual life of the community.

At the Presbyterian church there were 76 additions to the membership, 52 being on profession of faith, and 26 adults being baptised.

The Methodist church received 131 new members, 98 of these being on profession, with 64 adult baptisms.

At the First church there were 49 new members, 37 on profession and 14 adult baptisms.

The Second church had 42, 33 of these on profession and 15 baptisms.

The Ninth Avenue church received 98, of these 95 were on profession, and the adult baptisms number 35.

The Baptist church has received 50, the number on profession and baptism being 42.

The Christian church has had no

INVITATION TO SPEAK RECEIVED

Secretary to Gov. Hadley of Missouri
Writes Chief Executive Will Take up Request.

ON HIS RETURN TO HIS HOME

James E. Watson Feels Sure he Will Accept to be Orator at Risk Notification.

James E. Watson has received a letter from Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, acknowledging the receipt of the invitation extended to the Missouri executive to make the principal address when William L. Risk of Newcastle will be "notified" that he was nominated for congress by the Sixth district Republicans assembled in convention at Connersville.

Gov. Hadley's secretary wrote that his chief was away at present but that the proposed engagement would be taken up immediately upon his return. It is generally believed that Gov. Hadley will accept the invitation from Mr. Watson unless he already has an engagement, because a close friendship and relationship was formed between Gov. Hadley, who acted as leader of the Roosevelt forces in the Republican convention, and Mr. Watson, who appeared as the Taft leader.

James H. Jones of Newcastle, chairman of the committee appointed at the congressional convention to make arrangements for the Risk "notification" was here Thursday to attend the fair, and while here he was in conference with Mr. Watson in regard to the coming meeting. Mr. Watson told him that he felt certain, judging from conversations and other circumstances, that Gov. Hadley would accept the invitation unless something absolutely imperative arose to prevent him from doing so.

Several Republicans here have been "notified" that they will be expected to be on hands at the big rally that is planned for the "notification." From present indications there are a lot of Republicans who will not need "notifying," but will attend anyway.

Friday the Newcastle Courier says, at a conference of Republicans in the office of Mr. Jones arrangements for the event were discussed. A telegram signed by Mayor Barnard and Mr. Jones was also sent to Governor Hadley, urging him to accept the invitation to speak in this city.

It is being planned to hold a monster Republican rally in connection with the Risk notification. It is believed that the Hadley meeting will be one of the largest in the State and the biggest in the history of Henry county.

W. L. Risk, the Republican nominee for congress, was kept unusually busy at Rushville Thursday meeting the farmers of Rush county at the county fair. He held an impromptu reception in the grandstand and met and shook hands with three or four thousand voters. In Rush county the people are enthused over the Risk candidacy and the prediction is being made that he will carry that county by a big majority.

Next week Mr. Risk will go to Connersville where he will start the races at the famous Connersville free fair. He will also attend the county fair at Shelbyville.

Annual Street Fair.

The Redmen of Clarksburg are preparing for a great time next week, it being the occasion of their annual street fair. The committee in charge has contracted for many amusements and if the weather man is good to them they will have large crowds. Many from Rush county are laying plans to attend.

CLAIMED A BRIDE IN RUSH

W. W. Smith, Who Died in Kokomo, Married Local Woman.

William W. Smith, age seventy-seven, who married Miss Mary E. Spraker in this county in December, 1863, died at his home in Kokomo yesterday. He was born and reared in Kentucky and moved to Howard county in the early fifties. When he became of age, he went to Louisville to live with his grandfather, and in less than a year, came here to claim his bride, and moved to Howard county, where he spent the remainder of his life. His wife died in 1902. He is survived by four brothers and two sisters.

MAYOR BLACK SEEN IN MOTION PICTURE

Was Caught by Camera in Company
With Lew Shank at Indianapolis Civic Parade.

LOUIS HINER IN SAME FILM

Theatergoers at the Portola last evening were surprised to see Mayor Black in moving pictures. The mayor, if he was there was no doubt surprised himself. The picture was "Pathe Weekly No. 24" and the part where Mayor Black "got in" was taken in Indianapolis during the civic parade held there this summer. Mayor Black was shown talking with Mayor Shank. It was an easy matter to recognize both men as the picture was very clear.

The picture last night was of unusual interest as Mayor Black was not the only local person shown. One Rushville boy has been going to the "movies" regularly to see himself in a picture and last night he was successful. The boy was Louis Hiner. Louis was in Anderson during the State convention of the Elks lodge and witnessed the big parade. During the parade he saw a moving picture man and proceeded to get in the picture by climbing on a pedestal lamp. He recognized himself last night if no one else did.

UNDECIDED ABOUT A COUNTY TICKET

Bull Moosers Will Reach Definite
Conclusion on This Question
Early in Month.

BIG DIVISION OF OPINION

A dozen or fifteen Bull Moosers met in their headquarters this afternoon to discuss the question of placing a county ticket in the field. No definite conclusion as to the course to pursue was reached this afternoon and it was decided to hold a meeting early next month when it shall finally be decided one way or the other.

Ben L. McFarlan, the Bull Moose county chairman, said after the meeting that the gathering was for the purpose of talking over the county ticket question, but that it had never been intended to settle the question finally today.

It is understood that some of the Bull Moosers are urging that a county ticket be put in the field, and others are decidedly opposed to such a plan. This question is calculated to arouse some discussion among the Bull Moosers as some of them are very strong on each side of the question.

BABY RACER DROPS DEAD

Only Accident of Successful Fair Races is in Second Heat of 2-Year-Old Race Friday.

FRANK HANNAN EXHAUSTED

Infants Hold Boards But Trot and Pace Also Grip Interest of the Crowd.

The baby two-year olds held the boards on the speed card at the last day of the county fair and it was this race that furnished the only accident to mar the fine racing this year, when Frank Hannan, a fine two-year-old bay gelding, driven by John Dagler, dropped dead from exhaustion as he entered the home stretch at the pole in the second heat of the race.

The other races furnished almost as many exciting finishes and as good sport as did the Thursday card. The 2:17 pace was hotly contested, it requiring five heats to decide the winner, James K. Nebro, a gray gelding in Clyde Nebro's stable. Four heats were enough to settle the 2:20 trot. The time in all the races yesterday was slower than Thursday's time. The track, despite the heavy rain Thursday evening was almost as good.

There was only one heat of Thursday's card raced yesterday. That heat was the final one in the county road pace, which was won by Ray Kellum, with his bay gelding, Kellum. He won the first two heats Thursday handily and repeated the trick in the deciding heat yesterday. Not as much competition developed in the road pace as did in the road trot of Wednesday, when five heats were necessary.

The money in the 2:15 trot, started Thursday, was divided without a deciding heat being run yesterday. According to the point system, Wilford G., a bay gelding in the stable of Frank Trinkler of Columbus, who copped out lots of the money here this week, was entitled to the first money. Chattsy and Ruth Randall, John Dagler's grand circuit mare, tied for second place with nine points apiece and second and third money was split even between them. Dr. Gambetta, Fred Dagler's horse, was given fourth money, with Bruce Graham outside.

Chattsy and Wilford G. had two heats each, and Chattsy's driver wanted to go the deciding heat on Thursday evening in the face of the heavy gale and rain storm, but the judges would not stand for such methods and divided the purse according to the points in the four heats.

The death of John Dagler's two-year-old was deplorable, but no blame can be placed for such an accident. The infants were scored a number of times in the first heat before they got away for a good start. Started Wilson had difficulty in getting them away together, because they were all green at the racing game, and invariably, when they came down to the wire well bunched, one of the colts would break and act badly. A number of times four of the colts got away good without the other even trailing.

They finally got started for the first heat, and John Dagler walked away from the four Charley Hayt colts with ease, winning the half in 1:17 flat. They scored six times before they went away in the second heat, and the youngsters were all blowing pretty hard from the incessant scoring. Some horseman in the amphitheater suggested that the colts ought to be cooled out before they were sent the heat, but the driver

DOES ANY DANGER LURK IN THE TOOTHsome FRIED CHICKEN?

Dr. J. N. Hurty Declares Fowls Can
Pick up Tubercular Germs
Very Easily.

CASE OF MADISON HEN CITED

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State board of health, has cast a cloud of suspicion on fried chicken, the delicacy now being generally consumed in the rural districts of the State and appearing somewhat regularly on the tables of some of the city folk. Tuberculosis is the basis of the cloud.

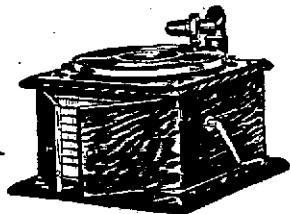

"Chickens running at large in the country farmyards about the country homes often are placed where they can pick up tuberculosis easily," said Dr. Hurty. "They are foul feeders and apparently the average person has never thought that a chicken following a person afflicted with tuberculosis might easily pick up the disease. I know of several persons who have ceased to eat chicken except when killed under satisfactory circumstances."

That chickens sold in the public market may easily have been infected by tuberculosis and the buyer not able to notice it, is the opinion of both Dr. Hurty and Dr. J. P. Simonds, superintendent of the pathological laboratory. The danger of spreading the disease by such means both said are remote, if the meat were properly cooked, but in many instances it is not.

The pathological laboratory has received the carcass of a hen killed at Madison, which was in an advanced stage of tuberculosis. The carcass is to be preserved in alcohol for a part of the State board exhibit for the prevention of disease.

STANDARD OIL
MAN TESTIFIESJohn D. Archbold Gives Out
Further Details.

ABOUT BIG CONTRIBUTION

Testifying Before Senate Investigating Committee, Not Only Corroborates Testimony of Senator Penrose, but Lets in a Little Additional Light on the Subject of That $125,000 Gratuity to 1904 Campaign Committee.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Under oath, John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil corporation corroborated all the statements that have been testified to by Senator Penrose in regard to the Standard Oil company's contribution of $100,000 to the Roosevelt 1904 campaign fund and the subsequent effort to obtain an additional $150,000 from the same source.

In his testimony before the senate investigating committee Mr. Archbold went further even than did Senator Penrose. He charged in effect that President Roosevelt's attacks upon the Standard Oil company were inspired by the failure of the company's directors to give up the $150,000 that was asked for by Mr. Roosevelt's national treasurer, the late Cornelius N. Bliss. Archbold testified that Mr. Bliss himself had expressed the fear when the Standard Oil directors turned down this request that they were making a mistake. About a year after the election Mr. Archbold and the late H. H. Rogers went to Mr. Bliss to protest against the attacks just starting on the part of the Roosevelt administration. Archbold testified with a considerable show of feeling that Mr. Bliss acknowledged then that things might have been different with the Standard Oil if it had honored the second request. Mr. Bliss added that it was a matter of deep humiliation to him that he was obliged to say he had no influence with Roosevelt.

Archbold testified emphatically that Cornelius N. Bliss had assured him that he had informed both President Roosevelt and Mr. Cortelyou of the Standard Oil's $100,000 contribution to the Roosevelt campaign. That Mr. Bliss made this statement was affirmed under oath also by Senator Penrose, who declared that he heard him say in the presence of Mr. Archbold that "both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Cortelyou had been fully advised of the first contribution and were extremely solicitous to have Mr. Bliss's request for the second one complied with." Archbold asserted that he personally not only had received this assurance from Mr. Bliss, but that he had made such assurance one of the conditions of the gift.

Mr. Archbold testified that the Standard Oil board of directors in deciding to contribute $100,000, instructed him that it would be given only with the understanding that it would be accepted and "appreciated" by Roosevelt. Senator Penrose again testified that he had heard Mr. Archbold state this condition to Mr. Bliss and the latter's reply that the Standard Oil people need have no fears on that score. Archbold made a further damaging statement against George B. Cortelyou, who was chairman of Mr. Roosevelt's 1904 Republican national committee. He declared that Mr. Bliss when he asked for the second contribution of $150,000 said that he wished Archbold to meet Cortelyou and to have the chairman explain the conditions which necessitated a further contribution.

"The engagement was made to meet Cortelyou," said Archbold.

"Was it kept?" asked Senator Penrose.

"No," said Archbold. "Mr. Bliss came alone and said, 'Well, you see I am alone. Mr. Cortelyou did not think it advisable to come and he told me that whatever I might say should be considered as said by him.'" Archbold said that Mr. Bliss was one of the most honorable and upright men he had ever known and that he would accept his word on anything. Archbold's testimony disclosed the fact that the contributions to the Roosevelt campaign was made in September and that the request for the second contribution came about the middle of October. Mr. Roosevelt's admonitory letter to Mr. Cortelyou was not written until Oct. 24.

Mr. Archbold testified that William Rockefeller and other members of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company could corroborate the statements made by him, as to what occurred at the board meeting and the representations that came from Mr. Bliss. The senate committee has decided to postpone further inquiry into this subject until the last week in September.

FALSEHOODS

It is Thus That the Colonel Disposes of These Statements.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The sensational charges brought against ex-President Roosevelt by Senator Penrose before the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, and in the testimony given by John D. Archbold before that body, provoked from Colonel Roosevelt a series of replies in the form of two statements. In the first statement, the ment disposes of every allegation made by his accusers as deliberate and malicious falsehoods. Colonel Roosevelt reviewed every phase of the testimony given by Mr. Archbold and pictured the conditions under which it had been given, as a "frame-up."

To the newspaper men gathered on his porch the colonel dictated a statement in which he said in part: "In the first place I wish to call attention to the fact that even if Mr. Archbold's statements are true, they amount only to saying, so far as I am concerned, that Mr. Bliss told him that I had knowledge of and approved a request for $100,000 from the Standard Oil company, which was granted, and a further request for $150,000 which was not granted. This is a pure hearsay statement, which was instantly disproved by the production of my letters and telegram."

"But I do not for one moment believe that Mr. Archbold's testimony is truthful. He apparently possesses such a moral standard that he does not understand the infamous accusation he is making against Mr. Bliss. This is a wicked assault on a dead man whose high standing and probity was such that no human being who was himself honest, would ever impute evil motives to him. Mr. Bliss was incapable of conduct such as Mr. Archbold imputes to him. Moreover, Mr. Archbold shows perfectly clearly as published reports say, that his corporation had contributed in order to get value for its gift and that the gift was made with the expectation of receiving improper consideration."

"I do not for one moment believe that Mr. Bliss made any such remarks to Mr. Archbold as Mr. Archbold says. For example, Mr. Archbold states that he and the late H. H. Rogers visited me at the White House and that I then remarked to them that there had been some criticisms about campaign contributions. This is a falsehood. Neither on that occasion nor on any other occasion was one word said either by me to Mr. Archbold or by Mr. Archbold to me about campaign contributions. If Mr. Archbold had really believed that Mr. Bliss had told him that I knew of any contribution by Standard Oil or had felt that he was jeopardized by having refused to make a contribution or was entitled to immunity for having made one, he would certainly in one of those calls have said as much. He never broached the subject."

"He merely said over and over again that Mr. Garfield and Mr. H. K. Smith were treating him unfairly, and he denied again and again that the Standard Oil ever got any rebates or ever did anything that was not absolutely proper. And he would keep on with these denials even when I would tell him that I had in my possession reports from the bureau of corporations and the secretary of the interior which conclusively showed that Standard Oil had been taking rebates on the largest possible scale."

"Inasmuch as Mr. Archbold did not tell the truth in his interview with me, I have no doubt that he does not tell the truth about the man who is dead, and who living, he never dared to accuse as he now accuses him. It seems to me that the course of Mr. Penrose in this matter and the bringing in of Mr. Archbold to testify bear close analogies to what, in the New York police situation at this time would be called a 'frame-up,' and this is shown by the questions which Mr. Archbold is asked and those he is not asked."

"I feel that the country has a right to expect the committee to refuse to permit Mr. Archbold to go away until he has testified to every fact within his knowledge. He and Mr. Penrose should be rigorously cross-examined as to the transactions between them. Meanwhile I wish to thank them both for having made it clear beyond possibility of doubt that I am the man whom the Penroses and Archbolds of the country most dread in public life."

A Frame-Up, Says Penrose.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Penrose has issued a statement in which he says: "Colonel Roosevelt's relations with the Standard Oil company clearly have been established. In reply to the disclosure Roosevelt submits a letter which in police circles would be known as a 'frame-up' and an attack upon me personally. The exposure of Colonel Roosevelt's negotiations with the Standard Oil company are such that the frenzied cry of 'liar' will not satisfy the people."

Standard Oil Man Testifies
Before Committee of Senate.WORLD'S SENSATION
IN BATTLE SHIPSNew Vessel to Lead All Fighting Machines.

Washington, Aug. 24.—A vessel calculated to prove the world's sensation in the matter of a fighting machine will be the battleship Pennsylvania, authorized by congress a few days ago, according to tentative plans for construction. Naval authorities have determined that this shall be not only the biggest and most formidable war vessel so far ever undertaken, but the speediest of all battleships. The fact that she is to carry 14-inch guns and a water line armor protection of sixteen inches thickness has made it necessary to design a ship exceptionally long in order that her beam shall not be too wide for safe passage through the Panama canal.

The Pennsylvania will have but 95-foot beam, but a length of 630 feet, 55 feet longer than the Oklahoma. Her speed will be twenty-three or twenty-four knots an hour if possible. A displacement of 31,000 tons will be necessary.

This will make the Pennsylvania not only the biggest, with the heaviest armor and arrangement of any warship in the world, but the speediest of all battleships, in this respect rivaling the battle cruisers that are being built by Germany and England.

FIGHT FILMS
UNDER A BANNew Law Prohibits Pictured Pugilism.

SEVERE PENALTIES IMPOSED

This Law Not Only Puts a Stop to Pictorial Presentations of Prize Fights, but Prohibits the Transportation of the Photographic Films Designed to Reproduce the Pictures in the "Movies" of the Country.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—At the Indianapolis customs house, an order has been received calling attention to the act of congress of July 31, prohibiting the importation or interstate transportation of films or other pictorial representations of prize fights or encounters between pugilists.

"Customs officers," says the order, "will make careful examination of all importation of films and similar articles, whenever practicable and will report to the United States attorney and the department any violations of the law which they may discover."

The federal act prohibits the importations of interstate transportation of pictures of prize fights or encounters of pugilists, "under whatever name," which are designated to be used or may be used for purposes of public exhibition, or for sale, distribution or circulation. It is made unlawful to mail such films or pictures, deposit them with an express company, or send or carry them from one state or territory to another, or to cause them to be brought from abroad or from one state into another. It is also made unlawful to take or receive such reproductions from the mails, any express company or common carrier with intent to sell, distribute, circulate or exhibit them. The penalty is a fine of not to exceed $1,000, to which imprisonment at hard labor for not more than one year may be added.

Desire to Commit Crime.

Seymour, Ind., Aug. 24.—According to his own statement to the officers, novels telling of crime caused the downfall of Oliver Snyder, the young burglar and former school teacher from Brown county. Snyder was arrested here for assaulting Mrs. George Lockmund and entering several houses, although in the attempt to escape he was wounded so badly by Chief of Police John T. Abell that it was necessary to amputate his right leg. He was removed to the Jeffersonville reformatory for safe keeping and reports indicate that he is improving. His aged father, Greenberry Snyder of Beck's Grove, visited him at the reformatory. Mrs. Lockmund, the woman he attacked, is in a serious condition.

Snyder told the police he acquired the desire for sensational robbing after he had read in 5-cent novels how the bold robbers and daring thieves had committed burglaries and escaped from the police. It was in the literature of this kind that he conceived the idea of robbing a house and when found by the officers, throw them from his track by entering the adjoining home. Snyder will be returned here at the October term of court, when he will be indicted.

Dangerous Sleeping Place.

Greensburg, Ind., Aug. 24.—Walter Lindeman, about twenty years old, was killed by a passenger train east of here. Lindeman and Harry Shollek, a companion, were beating their way from Chicago to Cincinnati, and, according to Shollek, sat down on the track and fell asleep. Shollek awakened in time to hear the approaching train, but Lindeman did not get up quickly enough to avoid being struck.

Boys Killed by Train.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 24.—A crowd of boys playing along the railroad tracks at the Belt Junction last evening ran across the track in front of a freight train, only to be caught by a train moving in the opposite direction on the second track. Lewis Powell, Jesse Darrell and Carl Matlock were killed outright and four other lads were badly though not fatally injured.

Will Speak in Every County.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Albert J. Beveridge, Bull Moose nominee for governor, is expected to arrive home from the east within the next two or three days, and plans will be made at once to have him start on his speaking tour of the state. According to present plans he will make speeches in practically every county.

Tragedy Due to Jealousy.

Dogger, Ind., Aug. 24.—James Pipes, aged twenty-eight, was shot and killed by Rowdy Bushman, aged twenty-nine. The shooting was the result of jealousy over Bushman's wife. Bushman surrendered and is in jail at Sullivan. Pipes was a married man and has one child.

Turned by Robbers.

Winchester, Ind., Aug. 24.—Winchester residents are being troubled by robbers. Within the last week several have visited off parts of the city.

DESERTIONS NOT SO MANY

Republicans Find That Statements of Third Term Party Men Are Generally Exaggerated.

SITUATION IN WAYNE COUNTY

Paul Comstock, New County Chairman, Brings Entirely Different Report Than That Printed.

Republicans who have been making investigations of conditions out in the state are taking exceptions to many of the claims that are being made by the Bull Moose commanders. Reports from many parts of the state made by Republican leaders are to the effect that stories of wholesale desertions from the old parties, to which widespread publicity is being given, are, almost without exception, exaggerated beyond measure.

One outstate Republican, who called at Republican state headquarters, said that he understood that this plan on the part of the Bull Moose is being pushed to the limit, but that he doubted if it would have the effect desired by the Bull Moose. He did not deny that there was some Bull Moose sentiment in his county, but he believed that the exaggerated stories that are being given out would react against the third term's lieutenants.

Paul Comstock, Republican county chairman of Wayne county, was a caller at the Republican state headquarters a day or two ago, and he brought an entirely different report of conditions in his county from that given out by the Bull Moose. Some time ago a story was sent broadcast to the effect that practically all of the members of the Republican county committee of Wayne county had resigned and joined the Bull Moose party. The report said that the desertions had been so numerous that in some of the townships there were no Republicans left to take the places of the precinct committeemen who resigned. In other words, the report had it that the Republican organization had been "all shot to pieces."

Wayne county has been the favorite browsing ground of the Bull Moose ever since the movement started. Insurgency has been rife in Wayne for several years, but it has been due to local conditions and to local dissatisfaction with party affairs rather than to any feeling in regard to national affairs. This has been true of the entire Sixth district, but the district always has come through with its Republican plurality for the national ticket, even at times when some of the counties "insurgently" most on local affairs. So the spirit of insurgency in Wayne county could not be counted as any indication of what the national election result may be in that county or district this year any more than in former years.

"From a reading of the reports sent out by the Bull Moose," said Mr. Comstock, "one would be led to think that the Progressive movement was sweeping everything before it in Wayne county, leaving only destruction and desolation in its path. But the truth is that it has not done anything of the kind. Only about one-third of the members of the Republican county committee resigned, and their places have been filled with loyal, working, enthusiastic Republicans. There was no difficulty whatever in finding such men to take the places of the deserters. The facts are that there are not nearly as many Bull Moose in Wayne county as their leaders would have you believe. The sentiment is confined almost entirely to two townships. There are few Bull Moose in Wayne county outside of Richmond and Hagerstown. It is just a case of the Bull Moose bosses giving out a false impression as to the prevalence of their malady."

Similar reports have been received from other counties in which the Bull Moose have been making big claims. A letter has come to Fred A. Sims, Republican state chairman, from the secretary of the county committee in a northern Indiana county in which the Roosevelt sentiment was exceptionally strong before the Republican national convention. A Bull Moose report had said that the Republican organization in that county had been almost wholly disrupted by the Bull Moose movement, and that the third party sentiment was so strong there as to make it practically impossible for the Republican organization to do anything. The report intimated that both the county chairman and the secretary of the county committee were about ready to desert.

The letter from the secretary was as follows:

"It has been my intention to write you for some time. I have been told repeatedly that the state committee has been informed that the Republican organization in this county is not loyal to the Republican party and its nominees. I want to say to you that such is not the case. Both the county chairman and myself were Roosevelt men before the national convention, as we had a right to be. When the convention made its nomination and adopted its platform we were willing to abide by its action. The same is true with a large majority of the Republican precinct committeemen. There are five and possibly six precinct committeemen who are not loyal. At the proper time their places will be vacated and filled by loyal Republicans."

"I believe the situation here must be handled with tact, because this was one of the heavy Roosevelt counties in the state. I think we will get the majority of the party lined up on the right side. For instance, one of the factories in this city was a hot bed for Progressives. . . . I am told that there are only two of the fifty Republican votes at this factory that will go to the new party. The same situation exists at another factory and other places in the city."

WITH DEATH CLOSE AT HAND

Merry Throng of Careless Sailors Had Luncheon Party That Just Missed Being Tragedy.

Some years ago while a French man-of-war was lying at anchor in Temple bay a number of the younger officers conceived the idea of amusing themselves with an iceberg a mile or so distant in the straits. They decided to have a luncheon party at the very top of it.

It was a bright summer morning, and the jolly boat with a flag went off to the berg. By 12 o'clock the colors were flying from the top of the big chunk of ice, and the midshipmen were reveling thereon. For two hours or more they hacked and clambered over it. They frolicked and they feasted, laughing at the idea of danger at this solid ice. When, like thoughtless children, the young men played themselves weary, they descended to their cockle-shell of a boat and rowed away.

As if time and distance had been measured for the very purpose of permitting the young men to view the scene in safety, the great berg lay silent until the boat was a certain distance off. Then, as if its heart had been volcanic fire, it burst with awful thunder and filled the surrounding water with its ruins. Awed and subdued by the scene of destruction, and thrilled at their narrow escape from death, the picnickers returned to their ship. It was their first and last day of amusement with an iceberg.

Long-Preserved Youth.

An English lady, disappointed in love in her younger years, became insane, and lost all account of time. Believing she was still young and living in the same hour in which she was parted from her lover, taking no note of the years, she stood daily before the window watching for his coming. In this mental condition she remained young.

Some American travelers, unacquainted with her history, when asked to guess her age, placed it under twenty years. She was at that time seventy-four, but had not a wrinkle or gray hair. Youth sat gently on cheek and brow. She was held by the thought of youth and love, and it retarded the marks of age.

INDIANA'S FAVORITE BAND

HARRY C. KLAUSSMAN.

The Indianapolis Military band, with Harry C. Klaussman as director, is the largest concert band in Indiana. It has played at the Indiana State Fair for over twenty years, and in its concerts at the coming fair will have more musicians than ever played with it there. Miss Anna Woodward, of Chicago, will be the soprano soloist with the band.

NO STATE FAIR PASSES

OFFICIALS AND PATRONS PLEASED WITH NEW RULE.

Men Who Will Manage the Department and Judges Who Will Tie Ribbons on Prize Winners.

The "no pass" rule adopted and rigidly followed by the state board of agriculture at the Indiana state fair last year gained the full approval of the board members and the ever-paying visitors to the exposition and the same rule enforced with strictness will govern the coming fair. Visitors will again drop their coins of admission in the slot machines at the gates, each admission being registered by an electric device not only in the slot machine, but in a central register in the treasurer's office. Instead of the abolishment of the pass evil last year resulting in reduced attendance, the fair broke the record for paying crowds. Farm people who visit the fair and invariably pay their admission now have the satisfaction of knowing that every one who patronizes the exposition is on the same basis at the gates. The same liberal rates prevail this year. General admission adults, 50 cents; children, 25 cents; vehicles free.

Members of the state board who serve as department superintendents will have charge of divisions of the fair, as follows: Admissions, L. C. Boyd, Indianapolis; grand stand, J. Lynn VanNatta, Lafayette; speed, C. H. Anthony, Muncie; horses, Dan C. Reed, Attica; cattle, Clem Graves, Bunker Hill; swine, H. L. Nowlin, Moores Hill; poultry, Warren T. McCray, Kentland; art, J. E. McDonald, Ligonier; horticulture, John C. Haines, Rockport; agriculture, Mason J. Niblack, Vincennes; mechanical, Ed. S. Tuell, Corydon; concessions, Oscar Hadley, Plainfield; coliseum, Knoder Porter, Hagerstown; amusements, Stephen B. Fleming, Fort Wayne. I. Newt Brown, of Franklin, is president of the board, Dan C. Reed is vice-president, and Charles Downing is secretary and treasurer.

The judges in departments will be: Draft horses, Mat Biers, Mendota, Ill.; coach horses, Richard P. Sterricker, Oconomowoc, Wis.; harness horses, John A. Campbell, St. Louis; saddle horses, E. A. Trowbridge, Columbia, Mo.; ponies, R. T. Sterricker, Cattle—shorthorns and polled Durhams, Frank W. VanNatta, Fowler, Ind.; Herefords and Galloways, Thomas Clark, Beecher, Ill.; Aberdeen Angus, red polls and brown Swiss, L. McWerther, Aldo, Ill.; dairy cattle, H. S. Berry, Lexington, Ky. Sheep—Shropshire, Oxford, Southdown, Hampshire, H. L. Compton, Kyle, O.; Cotswold, Lincoln, Leicester, Hal Woodford, Paris, Ky.; Merino, U. C. Brouse, Kendallville, Ind.; Cheviot, Dorset and Tunis, Uriah Privett, Greensburg, Ind.; Swine—Berkshire, G. W. Jessup, Rockville, Ind.; Poland China, John Harcourt, New Augusta; Duroc Jersey, Carl Scott, Shideier, Hampshire, L. M. Ritterskamp, Princeton, Ind. Horticulture, H. E. Vandeman. Table luxuries, Mrs. W. L. Berryman, Tipton, Ind.

As a new feature of the fruit show at the State Fair, about half of the apples on exhibition will be displayed in trays, and the others in plates. This change to trays has been made because the knowledge apple growers have gained in the last year in sorting and packing fruit for the market.

MISS JOSEPHINE DUNFEE.

Miss Dunfee will sing with Patrick Conway's band of New York, at the Indiana fair's horse shows afternoon and evening, week of Sept. 2.

FAIR'S NIGHT SHOW

BLOODED HARNESS AND SADDLE
HORSES IN RICH SPECTACLES.

Indiana Leads All State Fairs in Horse Show Prizes—Concerts by New York Band and Singer.

If a rich prize list can be taken as an indication, the night horse shows at the Indiana State Fair, opening on Labor Day, Sept. 2, will be the most pretentious of any given by a state fair in the United States. A comparison of the Indiana premium list with the lists from nine of the largest state fair horse shows, places Indiana far in the lead of any of them in amount of premiums offered. The horse show prizes at the Hoosier fair amount to $7,280; Ohio fair, $2,590; Texas, $5,000; Michigan, $2,360; Kentucky, $4,605; Blue Grass fair, $2,685; Iowa, $3,310; Minnesota, $4,060; Illinois, $5,415.

The Indiana fair's horse shows have steadily gained in quality and in popular favor every year since the Coliseum was built. A careful revision of the premium list for the coming horse show will make it more popular with the public than ever, for there are few classes which will permit a horse to appear in the arena more than once, and the wealth of prizes is expected to attract many more horses from Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and other states.

The horse show will open with parades of horses and cattle—a spectacle that is not equaled for splendor by any other state fair, and each evening there will be ribbon contests for high steppers, tandems, unicorns, four-hands, business teams, saddle and high school horses and special equestrian events. The night concert will be by Patrick Conway's Band, of New York, a band that has never been heard in Indiana, and Miss Josephine Dunfee, soprano, will be the soloist. The horse show will close in ample time for visitors from out in the state to get interurban cars for home.

In addition to the Coliseum, where the horse show will be held, all of the important buildings of the fair will be open and illuminated at night, including the barn for show horses, the art hall, horticultural, poultry and agricultural buildings. This will enable sightseers from over Indiana to go to the fair early in the morning and spend a day and evening in all divisions of the big exposition.

Visitors to the fair always find the "midway" shows one of the chief attractions in lighter entertainment, many thousand people every day and evening spending some time in this division of the exposition. An entirely new list of clean midway attractions has been engaged for the week of Sept. 2, made up of the Mazepa and Greater United Shows, which offer as one feature a horse which rescues a child from a burning house; a hippodrome show, including high school horses, Indian and acrobatic riders; performing elephants, donkeys and dogs; are on the list, as well as eight open dens of lions, tigers, bears and monkeys. A monkey circus and a wild west show, exhibition drills by a souave company, daring automobile feats in mid-air, and a number of other attractions will furnish amusement for sightseers. The "midway" will also have a large concert band.

The regular program and the extraordinary features which will mark the coming fair will so crowd the activities of each day and evening that it will not be possible for a visitor to exhaust the attractive resources. The programs will begin at 9 each morning, and with all of the important buildings open at night.

Sen. Kenyon's Stand.

Among the prominent progressive Republicans who have emphatically stated that they will remain in the ranks of the Republican party, is Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who declares that the mission of the party "is to fight battles for human rights."

The St. Louis Globe Democrat in speaking editorially of Senator Kenyon's attitude says:

Senator Kenyon of Iowa would rather be right and not in the Senate than be in the Senate and be wrong. As to parties, he would rather be for the right, in one with a perfect organization and a record of past performance, holding out a hope of real progressiveness in the future, than outside of it. He would rather lose his seat as a senator than his standing as a Republican. He has not been convinced that he can stand both with the Republican party and against it. Feeling himself forced to choose between it and a candidate and a transient organization now opposing it, he announces himself a supporter of Mr. Taft, and that he will continue his support of progressive government within the Republican party. Nominating what are called Republican tickets against the candidates of the Republican party does not appeal to him as being Republicanism, under existing political conditions. He offers to withdraw, as a nominated candidate for reelection, if that is demanded. He makes himself wholly clear in his reasoning. He leaves no point of the argument untouched. While still contending that continuing change in methods of government and administration are necessary, he insists that the Republican party offers the best instrumentality at hand for carrying on that purpose. In proof of this he commends the Taft administration. "Any candid man," he writes, "must certainly endorse his record of law enforcement and especially his trust prosecutions. His administration has done more to enforce the criminal feature of the Sherman law than all the administrations up to this time." The Republican party has done too much along the lines of progressive legislation, he asserts, for any Republican to despair of it. "If the day shall ever come," he writes, "when those who believe in legislation for special privilege, and not for the interests of the whole people, are in control of the Republican party, I shall not hesitate to leave it. That day is not here."

The entire argument is reasoned out with that clear incisiveness, and that close analysis, which at once placed the Iowa senator in the front rank of Senate debaters upon his appearance in that body, and which appeared to such conspicuous advantage in conducting the case against Lorimer. He ascribes to the forms of organization of the convention system, old, long approved and sanctioned by usage, whatever of complaint may have arisen as to the seating of delegates at Chicago. Something else done or not done at Chicago has evidently disturbed the Iowa senator more than anything done there under forms of organization. Read this pregnant question he asks: "If Senator Cummins had been nominated at Chicago, as I sincerely hoped he would be, would it be claimed that the only test of progressiveness would be to follow the third party?" This is a wide, far-reaching question. In trying to answer it, one must always remember that, if Senator Cummins or any other Progressive had been nominated, the delegates said to have been fraudulently seated would have participated in the ballot nominating him, and would have made that argument as strong against him as it can be against Mr. Taft or could be against any other man upon whom the choice might have fallen, including Col. Roosevelt himself. And the deepest meaning of this Kenyon question is that, while the colonel would have accepted a nomination at Chicago if he could have got it, without raising any question of its regularity, he would have bolted any other nomination than his own.

The Indianapolis Star might at least have been fair enough to give the real and untainted story of Sen. Boise Penrose's charges against Roosevelt in the 1904 campaign contribution controversy. Its readers got only Louis Ludlow's impressions of the charges, all of which, under Ludlow's facile pen, were to rebound like a boomerang on Penrose. One can get Louis' ideas on the political situation any day by picking up the Star.

Sam Sanderson Says:

That Armageddon would make a good name for a parlor car.

The Oyster Bay candidate declares that the Republican party is nothing but a husk without a soul, and yet it is but a few days since he was a member of that party and sought favors at its hands. If any one else were to pursue such a course, the verdict would be unanimous in interpreting the spirit that prompts it.

Governor Stubbs, although he failed to receive a majority of votes, becomes the nominee for senator from Kansas. This is according to the primary law of that State. Senator Curtis received more votes than Stubbs, but is defeated, nevertheless.

When Governor Wilson discusses the question he is careful to put the phrase "money question," in quotation marks. He is not willing to say that there is such a trust, although he is willing to imply it and make use of it to catch votes.

The New York Tribune very aptly says that Colonel Bryan read the influence out of the Democratic party only to find it firmly lodged in the Democratic candidate.

In 1908 the inventor of the steam roller "purged the roll" by deciding all contests in his own favor.

"Parasols a third off," said a sign in a dry goods store window the other day. Make your own comment.

A druggist in a nearby town has adopted some methods of advertising that are calculated to drive trade away. He advertises fresh buttermilk for sale at his soda fountain, and then as additional proof that it is good dope he adds the statement of the department of agriculture that "buttermilk has no equal for feeding hogs."

The moral to that is that most people are hogs but they will not stand for others calling them one.

Forget it. In a couple of months, when you have enough money to pay for the first batch of coal, you will be thanking your lucky stars you were not enticed away by any high sounding phraseology of the railroad circulars for a vacation.

Says Roosevelt's Standard of Ethics is His Own Success

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, in the last issue of his weekly magazine, takes a hard editorial rap at Theodore Roosevelt, declaring that Roosevelt has been ungrateful to his friends and that his whole standard of ethics in his own personal success. Senator LaFollette in his editorial articles says:

"The last thing to be tolerated of a new political party, professing to stand for progress, is to hark back to boss and machine rule through threats and coercion of candidates for office. And yet Roosevelt threatens to beat senators, congressmen, governors, sheriffs and coroners unless they declare for him.

"Loyalty to progressive principles has nothing to do with the matter. In Ohio Judge E. B. Dillon was nominated on the Republican ticket for governor. Dillon was enough of a progressive to be acceptable to progressives and was assured that no opposition would be made by them to his candidacy. Upon this understanding he accepted the nomination. But Roosevelt thereafter demanded that Dillon declare for him (Roosevelt) or face the opposition of a second candidate. Dillon very properly refused and, unwilling to take the chances of defeat, withdrew as a candidate.

"Governor Deneen of Illinois was not asked by Roosevelt's agent how he would stand as to Lorimer's successor—a matter of grave importance to the whole nation: or whether he would support a progressive state program. The Illinois congressmen were not enticed as to their position on national legislation. But they are plainly given to understand—and some of them are the most pronounced reactionaries in public life—that if they declare for Roosevelt they will be aided, or at least will not be opposed by Roosevelt. That is the meaning of the telegram which each one received from Roosevelt's managers in Illinois. "If Cannon and McKinley, frightened at the sight of the big stick, figure."

should promise to come out for the Roosevelt party, they would have no Progressive opponents in their districts. On the other hand, Hadley of Missouri and Borah of Idaho, neither of whom will go into the Roosevelt party, are to be punished by having Roosevelt tickets put up against them in their states.

"How do you stand on me?" is Roosevelt's sole test of qualification for a Progressive. Imagine a congress elected on this basis. Of course it would be reactionary. Roosevelt is not concerned about a Progressive congress. An Aldrich senate and a Cannon house are satisfactory to him if he can win more easily with that kind of a combination.

"What would become of the Progressive movement under such leadership? And yet, it is exactly the plan Roosevelt pursued when president. It is the Roosevelt way. He supported Lodge for United States senator two years ago, and Penrose for United States senator four years ago. He has always played this kind of a political game.

"It is characteristic of Roosevelt that, while he seizes upon issues that make good propaganda and gives them publicity, he has not the patience nor stability nor depth of conviction to prevent his sacrificing essential principles and permanent results to personal consideration and temporary advantage. It was this that made his administration as president, although a time of reform agitation, barren of constructive legislation and a period for growth of evils that might have been avoided under wiser leadership.

"The third party movement promises to illuminate this inherent weakness of Roosevelt as has no other phase of his political career. He completely dominates its policy, and the real significance of his tactics is revealed as it could not be in the more complex political situations in which he has been a conspicuous figure."

Here is a Terrible Jolt For the Wou'd-Be Bridegrooms

Diamonds this year are 7½ per cent. higher in the rough and about 15 per cent. higher cut than last year and the market in Amsterdam, Holland, is decidedly the hardest for the buyer in its history, according to J. C. Sipe, an Indianapolis importer, who has just returned from Amsterdam.

"The trouble with the market is that none of the mines is producing heavily, with one or two exceptions, and from those mines where the production is large and a poor grade of stone is being taken," Mr. Sipe explained. "In fourteen years the price of diamonds has advanced 100 per cent. They began going up in 1898 and each year since there has been an increase. Only a short time ago I allowed a woman $295 on a pair of ear drops she bought from me fourteen years ago for $150. Her husband had objected to her buying diamonds, she said. Though she knew the stones had advanced considerably in value, she was much surprised at the amount.

"I have made about $10 a year for wearing these ear drops," she said, "and my husband has bought four or five automobiles in that time, each of which he has traded back for considerably less than he paid for them. I guess my investment will compare very favorably."

"So she bought a pair of ear drops at $600."

Mr. Sipe spent four weeks on his trip, allowing a week for the journey each way and two weeks for buying in Amsterdam.

"In England the high cost of living is making a more marked advance than it is in the United States," Mr. Sipe continued. "In London many persons with whom I am acquainted said that prices are going up at a great rate, and I observed that in the hotels I paid considerably more for food than ever before. For example, a piece of melon, for which in former years I never paid more than a shilling, cost me two shillings this year. "It seems that that knocks out completely the argument that the high cost of living in this country is due to the tariff, for if free-trade England is finding its cost of living advancing at a greater rate than it is in America certainly tariffs have little to do with it."

Eye Troubles

Brief spells of dizziness, pain in the brow and temples come from eye strain. Glasses correctly fitted—perhaps just to wear while reading, studying, sewing or other close work may be all that's required for permanent relief.

Taken in time the constant wearing of glasses is avoided. Delay means serious eye trouble later on, expensive and painful operation or the loss of vision.

MAIL MAN BACKED BY UNCLE SAM

Postal Laws Are Extremely Strict About Interfering With This Class of Employees.

ROWS WITH HIM ARE COSTLY

Whole United States Army Will Stand Behind Him if the Need Arises.

Nobody in his right senses attacks a policeman, because he carries a club and the punishment would be immediate and severe. Similarly nobody is likely to attack a fireman, because the public has very little relations with the uniformed fire department except in time of need, when we are glad to see them about.

But everybody has more or less relations with the letter carrier. Every house in Rushville is visited by the postman whenever there is a letter to be delivered, and there are more or less constant personal relations with the postman when a special delivery letter or registered package has to be delivered and signed for.

Rushville postmen, as a rule, are patient, respectful and more or less amiable. But now and then disputes will arise, and that is the time when it is well to remember that the private citizen had better keep his temper and under no circumstances lay his hands upon a letter carrier. You may squabble with the butcher's boy or the iceman or the milkman and take your chances of not hearing anything further from the rumpus, but if you lay a finger upon the letter carrier you will certainly regret it if you live.

The reason for this is that the entire population and resources of the United States government stand constantly behind the letter carrier. If necessary the United States army will be called out to defend him.

All this comes about because the mail is regarded as a more or less sacred matter. The United States laws are extremely strict about interfering with mail, delivering mail, stealing mail, or even opening a letter addressed to someone else.

The letter carrier is the representative of the United States government. While he is engaged in his duty of custodian of mail, the government guards him with as jealous care as a cabinet officer. The secret service detectives of the government are always ready to rush out and arrest anybody who disturbs a postman, and United States district attorneys and United States judges will give immediate attention to any case involving an attack upon one. If it once becomes understood that letter carriers can be attacked or interfered with or robbed of their mail, then the whole security and sacredness of the mail is destroyed. And this is the reason why the great federal government, with all its resources, stands behind its postmen.

Not only is the postman jealously guarded from personal assault by the government, but if you have a dog that worries the postman, or that he fears may attack him, he does not have to leave your mail until you have chained up the animal.

221 CATTLE AT 10 CENTS.

John Leisure and son Albert Leisure of Ripley township have sold two hundred and twenty-one cattle to Swift & Company, Chicago packers, for ten cents a pound. This bunch of cattle was purchased by Lyons & Trabue at Chicago last November for five and a half cents a pound. In other words in nine months the Ripley township stockmen have been able to add four and a half cents to every pound of beef in the herd.

Fred Capp Suffers Only Billious Attack His Physician Says.

Fred A. Capp was taken suddenly ill at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon and had to be brought to his home in an automobile. Various reports have originated to the effect that Mr. Capp suffered a stroke of paralysis, but the attending physician says that he has only a slight bilious attack and that he will recover. The physician does not consider the condition of Mr. Capp very serious. Mr. Capp's mind wandered at times today, which, his physician, Dr. D. D. VanOsdel, said was caused by an affection of the digestive organs.

DATES FROM EARLIEST TIMES

Alfalfa, Probably Oldest Forage Known, Can Be Traced Through World's Whole History.

Alfalfa, perhaps the oldest of all cultivated forage or hay plants, has had a history scarcely less interesting than that of many nations which have utilized it. Those nations have prospered almost in direct proportion to the extent to which they have used it. The name "alfalfa" comes from the Arabs and means "the best fodder," and in fact it appears to have originated in Media or in some adjacent country, as the folklore tales from lands on different sides of this area point toward Media as the place whence it came. The wars of the Persian invasion of Greece took the plant to the latter country about 590 B. C., it being the custom for the advance embassies to precede the army and to plant fields for the sustenance of the herds which helped support the invading hosts. From Greece it advanced to Italy and Spain by successive stages, and was taken to Old Mexico by the Spaniards about 1519 A. D.

From there it was carried to South America and later (1854) entered California through the Golden Gate at the time of the activities incident to the discovery of gold in that state. Thence it spread over the irrigated sections and more recently has continued its march eastward until now it is by far the most important forage crop of such states as Nebraska and Kansas.

EVERYBODY HAS ONE.

Another old landmark has gone the way of all the world, says the Andersonville Herald. The old house on the D. R. Beaver lot on the south side of town was torn down last week. The building formerly stood on the south end of the Farthing lot on Mill street and was only moved away about a dozen years ago. The house was built at an early date in the history of the town and used by J. C. Craig for his coverlid factory. Almost every family in this neighborhood has a coverlet marked with the name of J. C. Craig.

Joseph DeMunbrun sold the forty acres that he owned near Andersonville, known as the David Lewis farm to Tommy Kelso for $2400. Mr. DeMunbrun will give possession on November 1st, and it is probable that he will move back to Dublin.

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, lustrous, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days' treatment.

"You do not mince words, certainly," Mrs. Hazard said. "On what authority do you accuse Miss Codman of such a thing?"

"The pendant was on my dressing-table when I went into my bath," Natalie explained. "I left Miss Codman there alone; she was to wait for me. When I came back she was gone—"

"I sent for her," interrupted Mrs. Hazard.

"And the ruby is missing," Natalie urged.

"Nothing else is missing?"

"Nothing else," admitted Natalie. "The ruby is sufficient."

There was a momentary silence after that, Mrs. Hazard evidently not knowing what more to say, and Natalie having said quite enough. I couldn't hold back Laura any longer, so I decided to go in first. But when was face to face with Natalie and near Mrs. Hazard I stood there tragically silent, with an odd ache in my throat.

"Miss Codman will speak for herself," Mrs. Hazard said in her direct way.

Adjournment of Session Comes This Afternoon.

MR. TAFT AWAITS THE WORD

With Congress Off His Hands, the President Will Lose No Time Starting For the Summer Capital at Beverly—Final Cabinet Meeting of the Season Occasion For Varied Discussion—Important Bills Signed.

Washington, Aug. 24.—President Taft, having received definite assurance from senators and representatives that congress will positively adjourn this afternoon, promptly arranged to leave Washington immediately after the session ends. He plans to leave at 5 o'clock this evening for his summer home at Beverly, joining Mrs. Taft there Sunday morning.

The president yesterday held his last cabinet meeting for the summer, all the members being present except Secretary Knox, who has sailed from Seattle for Japan.

The president had the cabinet with him again last evening for dinner. Over their coffee they discussed the legislation enacted or not enacted by the present congress and political or other questions that promise to arise between now and the election. Practically all of the cabinet members will leave within the next few days on their vacations. On Monday the president will open up his summer executive offices and he expects to spend little time in Washington between now and the November election.

After considerable hesitation and discussion with his cabinet, the president finally signed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. This measure, which was twice vetoed because it contained legislation objectionable to the president, is still far from being satisfactory to him, since it fails to appropriate sufficient funds to carry the commerce court through the entire fiscal year. The bill was first vetoed last week because of three principal features—the abolishment of the commerce court, the curtailment of the foreign trade relations of the state department, and putting the civil service on a seven-year tenure basis.

The bill was returned with the civil service clause eliminated and was again vetoed. As passed for the third time it affects the organization of the state department less seriously and allows the commerce court to continue only through the present administration.

Among a large number of other bills and resolutions that the president signed was a bill providing for an industrial commission to investigate labor conditions and a bill prohibiting false labelling of patent medicines as to their curative value. The president also approved the bill to carry the Alaskan fur seal treaty into effect.

A SENSATION

Is Promised When Waldo Makes This List Public.

New York, Aug. 24.—The names of the owners of every building which during Commissioner Waldo's regime has been used by the lessee as a gambling house, disorderly house, or for other unlawful purposes are now being listed at police headquarters, and as soon as the list ordered by the commissioner is finished the owners' names and addresses will be made public, together with the addresses of not only the houses that have been raided, but also of the places suspected of being gambling or other disorderly resorts.

The list of names and addresses of owners of properties which have been used as gambling houses or disorderly resorts or suspected of harboring gamblers or prostitutes will include, so Commissioner Waldo says, some of the most prominent names socially and financially in the city.

Mrs. Mackay Painfully Hurt. Stockbridge, Mass., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, while driving her runabout near Monument mountain, was thrown from her motor, which overturned, and received bruises so severe as to require the attention of a physician.

D. N. Hill, eldest son of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern road, was married in London to Mrs. Margaret Sawyer Fahnestock, a New York widow.

TRYING TO RECONCILE CHINA'S DIFFERENCES

Sole Purpose of Dr. Sun's Present Trip.

Tientsin, Aug. 24.—The former provisional president of China, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, and his wife have arrived here and are staying at a hotel in the British concession. Dr. Sun told an interviewer that the purpose of his journey to Peking was to try and settle the differences between the north and south.

He disclaimed any wish or intention of becoming a candidate for the presidency, even if that office should become vacant. He deplored the executions of Generals Chang and Feng at Peking, but refused to express an opinion as to whether they were necessary.

Dr. Sun declared that recent events had not shaken his confidence in the future of China and the republic. He believes the prospects are very bright. He says he is now concentrating his effort on the material development of the country, and especially in the direction of a great trunk line railway.

He will remain here two days and will then go to Peking, where the length of his sojourn will depend on the circumstances he finds there.

Editors Elect Officers.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 24.—The Northern Indiana Editorial association closed its forty-third annual meeting with the election of the following officers: President, J. A. Beane, Daily Democrat, Goshen; first vice president, W. C. Groves, Milford Mall; second vice president, T. M. Davis, Kentland Enterprise; secretary, Harry B. Darling, Laporte Argus-Bulletin; treasurer, Gordon N. Murray, Nappanee News.

State Auditors' Association.

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Nathan G. Wallace, auditor of Vigo county, was elected president of the County Auditors' Association of Indiana at its final session here. The auditors determined to start a campaign for a larger association membership and an effort will be made to bring into the association all the auditors of the state and also their deputies.

Rich Bequest to De Pauw.

Bloomfield, Ind., Aug. 24.—It is now estimated that the estate of Simeon Smith, the wealthiest citizen of this county, whose death occurred suddenly a few days ago, is worth at least $300,000. Of this sum all but about $9,000 goes to charitable and benevolent institutions. The aggregate bequests to De Pauw university will be not less than $250,000.

TELLS OF THREAT AGAINST PRICE

Mrs. Myrtle Robbins Says She Heard Cook Declare He Would Kill Employer.

STATE CONCLUDES ITS CASE

Rapid Progress Made in Greensburg Court Where Local Man's Brother is Being Tried.

Mrs. Myrtle Robbins told the Price jury in court at Greensburg Friday that she heard Fletcher Cook threaten the life of Zach Price, brother of Will Price of this city. Mrs. Robbins said that the threat was made at the home of Ardell Gallion one Sunday last fall. Mrs. Robbins was the first witness for the defense, the State having rested shortly before eleven o'clock.

Mrs. Robbins said she came into the room where Cook and several other persons were engaged in conversation. She said she heard Cook say:

"I saw Price in Buttsville and I called him a ——— to his face and he had to take it. I will kill him if I get killed myself."

The witness on cross examination by Mr. Barnes said she was in the room only a few minutes and that was all she heard Cook say. She said she was sitting a part of the time and standing a part of the time while in the room.

She heard one of the men present say that his corn had been washed out. That was all she heard.

J. E. Murphy and Mr. Baker were among the witnesses called early Friday afternoon. They testified to facts already familiar to the people who followed the first trial.

Friday morning was spent by the State in finishing the evidence necessary to round out its case. The venue was proved by Peter Barnes. Roy Swartout proved that he had sold a revolver to Price in the latter part of November. A revolver which he stated looked like the one sold was introduced in evidence as was the small pocket knife which was found in Cook's pocket after the shooting. Witnesses testified that when this knife was found it was closed and was in a pocket containing a small amount of change.

Mrs. Cook was recalled by the defense for the purpose of cross-examination. The questions asked were impeaching ones and will be used as the foundation for impeaching her testimony. They are all related to her testimony before the coroner and were of small importance. Mrs. Cook made a good witness every time she was on the stand.

The evidence so far has been a repetition of the evidence at the former trial. Nothing new has been offered or proved. So far there has been no evidence on the question as to Price's character. In this respect this trial is different from the former one. If this question is not presented the trial will be shortened probably a day or two. The defense can keep Price's reputation out of the case if it so desires. It seems probable that it will do so.

HE AVERTS A WRECK

Dr. Charles Zike of Manila Stops Train in Time.

Prompt action on the part of Dr. Charles Zike, the Manila dentist, averted a bad railway crossing accident in that town at four-thirty o'clock Thursday evening. Gordon & Sullivan are building a pike near the town and some of their men were taking a string of wagons to their gravel pit that they might be filled, when the horses became unmanageable and the wagons were left standing on the railway crossing just at the time when an extra south bound freight appeared in the distance. Grasping the situation the doctor dashed down the track and flagged the train. It came to a standstill when the pilot of the engine was not more than ten feet away from the wagons.

ground by noon today. Most of the shows and stand men shipped out last night or early this morning. Part of them went to Connersville where a free fair will be held next week and the other part went to Shelbyville where a five-day fair will be held next week. All of the local exhibitors hauled their stuff in today.

formal reception of members on account of the repairs to the church building, but to the present time 118 have signified their intention to unite with the church. This number will be largely increased. In fact all the churches expect further additions. The Swedish Baptist church holds a formal reception of members next week.

THIRD IS MAPLE'S BEST

Local Trainer Drives Nellie Gray in Elwood 2:12 Pace.

Clell Maple was not able to negotiate any thing better than third money with Nellie Gray at the Elwood fair races yesterday. He took that place in the summary, however, in the 2:12 pace by placing second in the first heat and third in the other four heats. The best time, made in the fourth heat, was 2:13 1/4. Princess Marguerite, owned by Charles C. Dehority, won the race after having finished last in the first two heats.

W. H. WYLIE IS CHAIRMAN

Local Pastor Heads the Conference Board of Examining Ministers.

The Rev. W. H. Wylie, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church, has returned from Seymour, where he presided as chairman of the board of examiners of the church which meets to examine young divines for admission to the conference. The gathering of the board and the young ministers is known as the itinerant school of the church, and the young preachers are made the subjects of a far reaching inquiry to learn of their qualifications for the ministry.

PIANIST WRITES SCENARIO

"Power of Melody," by Paul Williams to be Shown Here.

"The Power of Melody," a motion picture which will be shown at the Palace theater next Friday night, will be of especial interest to Rushville people, in that the scenario was written by Paul Williams of Morris-town, who is well known here. Mr. Williams has played here at the various five cent theaters and for a number of dances. Mr. Williams is considered better than any pianist ever appearing here at "playing the pictures." He is cashier of the Morris-town bank.

LUCK AND MISFORTUNE.

LeRoy Coon of South Orange is the luckiest unlucky boy that we ever heard of, opines the Andersonville Herald. On last Thursday night he lost a watch valued at about $5. It was found by Dave Palmer and returned to the boy. The next night LeRoy lost a ring that cost $14. It was picked up near the merry-go-round by Mrs. Cora Swartz. The ring was given to the boy the next day.

BABY RAGER DROPS DEAD

ers apparently thought nothing of what finally did happen.

Scott Brannan, the colored trainer, thought he had the fastest colt in the bunch in Tommy Hayt, and he started in the second heat to drive Frank Hannan to death—and he did. Tommy Hayt pressed Dagler's horse closely and passed him in the back stretch. Frank Hannan came back with a fresh burst of speed and had the pole as he rounded the bend into the home stretch. He broke twice on the stretch but was quickly put back on his feet by Dagler.

Just as the colt turned into the stretch, he hoisted his tail and began shaking it, and some one in the grand stand shouted that there was something wrong with Frank Hannan. The proud colt began to weave back and forth from one side of the track, Dagler in the meantime attempting to keep the horse on his feet. Finally he came to a sudden stop, turned crossways of the track and fell over almost dead. His death struggles were brief. He bled profusely at the nose and mouth, and veterinarians said he had burst a blood vessel in his lungs or head.

Clate Dagler, driving W. O. S. Hayt was trailing his brother, John Dagler, when Frank Hannan dropped dead. Taking his own chances for winning as well as risking the injury of himself and his colt, Clate Dagler pulled his horse into the fence and leaped in order to avoid running over his brother and the dead horse. His colt was not hurt in the least, but the sulky was smashed. As Frank Hannan dropped dead, John Dagler stepped out of the sulky.

Many people expressed the belief that anyone but John Dagler's brother would not take the chances Clate did in driving into the fence to keep from injuring his brother. The colt was said to be a very promising youngster and was valued at five hundred dollars.

Clyde Nebro annexed the 2:17 pace with his horse, James K. Nebro, after not only racing the field of four horses, but a bit of misfortune also. He won the first two heats without a great deal of effort, but Herman H. pressed hard in the third heat and out brushed him down the home stretch, winning by a very narrow margin. The common belief was that James K. Nebro was worn out and would not win the race.

In the fourth heat James K. Nebro broke repeatedly, and while he was breaking, a hopple broke and one of the sulky tires was punctured. Nebro layed up and finished last. He came back strong in the fifth, but several times he was in danger of losing the heat. Herman H. lead off but was pushed off his feet by his driver, and then Joe Bond and Mabel M. became real contenders for the pole. Joe Bond had the pole as they rounded the turn into the home stretch, and Mabel M. was racing right beside him with Nebro trailing.

It was the first race for the youthful driver of Mabel M. the horse men are confident his inexperience was the cause of him losing the last heat. He heard James K. Nebro pounding behind him as he came down to the wire, and politely turned out and let James K. Nebro by. But the young driver kept alongside Nebro and made him race to beat Mabel M. under the wire by a half length. Joe Bond was a close third, and was almost nosed out of that place by Herman H.

Scott Brannan won the third heat of the two-year-old pace with Tommy Hayt, but George Anderson did not finish more than a neck behind with Charleyline. The crowd applauded this finish loudly. In the last heat all the four horses were colts of Charley Hayt, Clem Miller's stallion.

The 2:20 trot was anybody's race, as was proved when Scott Newman won the first two heats easily, and then was beat down the stretch in the third heat by Ham Patterson after leading all the way around.

The comments on the races this year have all been very complimentary to Secretary Will L. King and the other fair association officials. It is agreed that the races were the best within the remembrance of most Rush county people. Great interest in the special events, such as the two-year-old feature pace, and the road races, was taken and Rush county horsemen lended their support in a hearty spirit of co-operation which meant nothing but success for the speed department.
